Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Zhang et al. (Ovary and Gametophyte Development Are Coordinately Regulated by Auxin and Ethylene following Pollination).

Zhang et al. teach a method of constructing orchid haploid, wherein an auxin solution (Alpha-naphthaleneacetic acid (NAA)) is dropped to a column or a part including the column of unfertilized orchid flowers, and the orchid flower is treated within 30 days so as to form seeds based on parthenogenesis, then these seeds are germinated and grown as to obtain orchid haploid (Page 415, Col. 2, lines 32-54).

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Zhang et al. (Ovary and Gametophyte Development Are Coordinately Regulated by Auxin and Ethylene following Pollination).

Zhang et al. teach a method of constructing a seed propagation variety of orchid, wherein an auxin solution (Alpha-naphthaleneacetic acid (NAA)) is dropped to unfertilized orchid flowers so as to form seeds based on parthenogenesis, and these seeds are germinated and haploid plants are selected from orchid plants thus grown, and the germinating seeds judges as haploid plants are grown to give said seed propagation variety of orchid (Page 415, Col. 2, lines 32-54).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zhang et al. (Ovary and Gametophyte Development Are Coordinately Regulated by Auxin and Ethylene following Pollination).

Zhang et al. teach all the limitations of Claim 4 as cited above but is silent as to the concentration of said auxin solution is between 0.1 and 5.0%. The Examiner respectfully submits that because Zhang et al. clearly teach the step of constructing an orchid haploid by application of an auxin (Alpha-naphthaleneacetic acid (NAA)) to a column or a part including the column of unfertilized orchid flowers, then in order to obtain the same orchid haploid, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention through routine experimentation to provide for a percentage of auxin (Alpha-naphthaleneacetic acid (NAA)) solution between 0.1 and 5.0%.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Future Correspondence

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the Examiner should be directed to Kent L. Bell whose telephone number is (571) 272-0973. The Examiner can normally be reached Monday through Thursday from 6:00 am to 4:30 pm.
